MONDAY EVENING, OCT. 15, 1900.

Astounding Politeness The truck driver is proverbially profane, and when one is discovered who doesn't swear between syllables when his vehicle is jammed in a bunch of other trucks and blocked trolley cars you feel like taking off your hat to him. Down at Second and Chestnut streets one afternoon, when traffic was at its thickest and trucks and cars were lined along both thoroughfares, two truckmen had equal chances of making the crossing. One was coming down Chestnut and the other along Second street.

Had they been ordinary truckmen each would have whipped up, and the chances are that a collision would have resulted. But these two were not ordinary truckmen. With Chesterfieldian grace one waved his arm to the other, inviting him to take precedence. "You first!" shouted the driver, whereupon a messenger boy who had witnessed the remarkable scene gasped and nearly swallowed his cigarette stump. "After you," was the next contribution to this remarkable dialogue. "Wouldn't that jar you?" muttered a motorman, who was standing clanging his bell for all be was worth. The two truckmen continued to motion for each other to go ahead. "I insist!" shouted one. "Oh, no; I in-cist!" shouted the other. Finally a poducks git a move on," he commanded.

"This ain't no pink tea." The truckman coming down Chestnut street consented to cross the street, and traffic was gradually resumed.-Philadelphia

A Persistent Poet.

Although R. K. Munkittrick has an enviable reputation as a humorist, yet he is not the quickest man in the world to see a joke when it is played on himself. Mr. Gibson, one of the editors of Puck and also a practical joker, arranged for a special jest to administered to Mr. Munkittrick.

He had provided a trick telephone which emitted a shower of flour when anybody spoke into it.
When Mr. Munkittrick had arrived, it was suddenly discovered that the paper had gone to press and that his copy was too late. There was only one chance, Mr. Gibson said, and that was to telephone to the printer and well him to stop the presses until his matter should be set up and inserted. He asked Mr. Munkittrick to go to the phone at once. Then the staff sat and held their sides, waiting for the explosion. Finally Mr. Gibson rushed to the telephone and found his friend deluged in flour, but still persistently calling "Hellol" through the phone. He led him back and carefully explained the joke. When he finished, Munkittrick calm

Still, I think we ought to let the printer know about the copy; don't you?"-Saturday Evening Post.

The Parisian Way.

It must be hard for the untraveled Anglo-Saxon to grasp the idea that a poet can without loss of prestige recite his lines in a public cafe before a mixed audience. If such doubting souls could, however, be present at one of these noctes ambrosianæ, they would quickly realize that the Latin temperament can throw a grace and childish abandon around an act that would cause an Englishman or an American to appear supremely ridiculous. One's taste or sense of fitness is never shocked. It seems the most natural thing in the world to be sitting there with your glass of beer before you while some rising poet whose name ten years later may figure among the "Immortal Forty" recites to you his loves and his ambition or brings tears into your eyes with a description of some humble here or martyr.-Eliot Gregory in Scrib-

She Heard It.

The surpliced choir had done its duty for the evening service. But all during the church hours there had been a pe culiar sound outside as if a child were crying In reality it was something the matter with the organ. It could be heard distinctly in the auditorium of the church. When the choir sang the recessional and marched slowly out of the church into the dressing rooms, one of the young ladies among the sopranos asked the woman who takes care of the robes: "Did you hear that awful squeaking out here?" "Yes, indeed, mum; I could almost understand the words." subject.-Detroit Free Press.

PEV + S DONAHOE Testifies to the Good Qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

On the 10th of December, 1898, Rev. S. A. Donahor, pastor M. E. Church, South, Pt. Pleasant, W. Va., contract ed a severe cold which was attended from the beginning by violent cough-ing. He says: "After resorting to a number of so-called 'specifics,' usually kept in the house, to no purpose, I purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough remedy, which acted like a charm. I most cheerfully recommend it to the public." For sale by all drug-
